OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAMME:

The Students Induction Programme should be conducted at the beginning of the first semester for all the undergraduate programmes. As per the schedule of induction programme one session is Alumni interaction with first year students. This session is handled by Ms. Sahana G H, Alumni of EEE[2018-2022 Batch].

The objective of this interaction is to explain the importance of self-motivation. Motivation is what pushes us to achieve our goals, feel more fulfilled and improve our overall quality of life. A motivational speech is to convince or to persuade the listener to take action to improve or to start doing any particular thing. This convincing involves improving efforts and energy to lead to good performance. Self-motivation is important at every point of our life, not only when we are freshers, but also when we are a working professional. It is the drive one needs to keep moving forward in life regardless of whatever the situation is. It is the positive attitude that conditions one to have self-faith and achieve all their goals. The ways in which a fresher can keep themselves motivated are communicate and talk to everyone, choose positive people to talk to, always remain optimistic, understand where our interest lies, motivate others to do their work well.

The alumni interaction also created an awareness about the significance of soft skills in professional and inter-personal communications and facilitate an all-round development of personality. Hard or technical skills help securing a basic position in one's life and career. But only soft skills can ensure a person retain it, climb further, reach a pinnacle, achieve excellence, and derive fulfilment and supreme joy. Soft skills comprise pleasant and appealing personality traits as self-confidence, positive attitude, emotional intelligence, social grace, flexibility, friendliness and effective communication skills.
